Participants in PFLE 2017 IN-51: Ensuring Successful Use of ICTs in the Classroom

This activity is a result of the collaboration between two departments, Social Science and English, working together on the design of a multidisciplinary session. In this way, History basic content should be integrated together with the development of English skills.

The result of our project combines specific knowledge about an important historical character such as Alexander the Great, the Macedonian leader of the ancient Greece, and the ability of understanding an English text. Therefore, vocabulary, grammar and comprehensive skills should be worked on while students acquire knowledge on History.

Thanks to the tools used, students have the opportunity to listen to a different voice than the teacher's. The integration of different tools, different subjects and different targets of improvement reveal our activity as useful from several approaches. Moreover, we have designed this lesson considering the usefulness of working with tools which do not require constant access to the internet. At the same time, the files have been created in a specific way in order to save ink and paper if printed.

We hope you like it and find it useful.
