i Vocabulary practice

In the eyes of the law

Did you know that it's illegal to ride a bicycle in a swimming pool in California? Well, don't believe everything you read on the internet. Many illogical laws which you find online are jokes, like this one. But there are some strange laws which really exist.

A In the town of Wellington, the local government has decided to limit the number of cats per household to four. Residents were surprised because Wellington is a small town with a lot of space. However, the government wanted to stop irresponsible people abandoning their cats.

- B 10 Concord is a town where people can't buy water in small plastic bottles. Bottles must be larger than 1 litre. The local council agreed to pass the law because plastic is bad for the environment. Ecologists are happy about the law, but some business owners think it is unfair because
- 15 they are losing money. The local council recommends tap water, which is perfectly safe.

- C The people who made this law were worried about crime, so they asked thieves to tell the police about their crimes before they happened. Most people thought that this was an impossible law and they were right. Nobody was surprised
- 20 when the police didn't receive a single phone call from criminals on their way to 'work'.

- D This law makes it easier for people to escape from public buildings in fires or other emergencies. The local government recommended making all doors open outwards so people
- 25 can leave a building faster. However, some doors open onto busy streets and hit people who are walking past!

Your turn

- 5 In your notebook, write six new laws or rules for your school and/or town and give a reason for each. Use these ideas to help you.

bicycles car drivers chewing gum classrooms clothes / uniform elderly people playground

People mustn't throw their chewing gum on the ground because it's impossible to clean it up.

- 6 Now talk to your classmates about your laws and rules and give your opinion. Use the adjectives in exercise 4 and the Useful language.

Useful language

I think that this rule is fair / logical because ...
