

FINAL DIGITAL PROJECT

I created a multimedia site for collaboration, in this case a blog, but the use of it is not the typical one.

My initial idea was to use Twitter as a vehicle to spread day by day, the most important issues about the course in order to share it not only with the Autonomous Community of Madrid but with the rest of the world, using links, pictures, videos, hashtags, etc.

The problem was that I didn't know how to collect all the tweets in one site and have access to see and use the contents if you are not a Twitter user or my follower, at the end, the creation of a blog was perfect to do that.

I decided to do this project because as teachers we are always asking for new ideas and resources, and the designers of this kind of courses are always waiting for the real impact of our contributions in our schools, but what happens if we don't stop it here and we try to spread it throughout all over the world? Using Twitter I could reach everyone no matter where they are and we can get resources from other teachers too, creating a big community to share English Teaching Resources.

Here is my URL to get access to my blog and finally to my Twitter account.

<https://compartiresvivirenglishresources.wordpress.com/>

Mario Merino Fernández